

BETTER BABIES deserve A BETTER HOSPITAL.

If there's a baby in your future (or that of someone you know), you'll want it to have the best of everything—and that includes your choice of doctor and hospital. That's why so many women in our part of Indiana choose to have their babies at Bloomington Hospital.

Better Doctors and Nurses The quality of care you and your newborn receive should be nothing less than the very best. Our staff of residency trained and board-certified obstetricians provides expert care with a remarkably personal touch. They're backed by experienced nurses who put your needs first from the moment you arrive, and all the resources of one of Indiana's most well-equipped maternity facilities.

Better Care for Both of You The birth of your baby should be a very special, very private moment. That's why our Labor, Delivery and Recovery Suites are private rooms equipped with private showers. You and your newborn will be disturbed as little as possible. And when you're ready for company, each room offers a comfortable area for visitors, too.

Better Choices for Better Peace of Mind We know that no two babies—or two mothers—are exactly alike. That's why we let you choose the options that are right for the two of you—everything from input on your anesthesia to whether your newborn stays in your room or our state-of-the-art nursery. That way, your birthing experience will be every bit as individual as your new baby.
