

Someday, This Funeral Director May Save Your Life

When you think of funeral directors, saving lives may not come to mind. But that's exactly what Sandy does. As a Lieutenant of the Scott Township Fire Department, he's there to help people at some of life's most difficult times.

The father of three does the same for Ziemer. As a funeral director, Sandy helps families cope with the loss of loved ones and counsels them through the choices they make.

For more than 70 years, our family owned and operated funeral home has been dedicated to the importance of life. People like Sandy live that dedication every day.
